With features like Web Protected Area, Tab Jump, Bookmarks, Autocomplete, Opera Unite, and Bookmark Manager, it makes surfing the web easy, fast, and secure. Here's a quick look at some of the new features in Opera 29 New look for speed Opera has been significantly redesigned to be faster and more energy-efficient, with new graphics, color schemes, and layout. But we believe that an easy and intuitive interface is just as important to our users, so we've also added a new "App Mode," which lets you use the web as an app without leaving your browser. When you want a faster browsing experience, you can drag your content up onto the title bar and tuck away the browser controls. You can do this for all pages, or only for secure sites, and Opera will remember your choice between sessions. More personal browsing: The Bookmarks bar has been unified and extended to show the total number of bookmarks that are saved for each site. You can access them one by one with a click. We've made it possible to add more bookmarks by dragging them from external applications into the Bookmarks Manager. You can also see recent bookmarks by pressing Alt+Z. Bookmarks can also be managed on the web: The bookmark status is shown in the status bar in a similar way as in Chrome and Firefox. When you write a link, you can add it to your Favorites using the Favorites button or the keyboard shortcut of your choice (Alt+Ctrl+D). You can still edit, organize, and search your Favorites from the Bookmarks Manager; if you want, you can also drag selected links to the Bookmarks bar. Saving pages as Web Apps A page can now be turned into a Web App. Your bookmarks, passwords, and browsing history will b7e8fdf5c8
